Miloš Marinković is a creative, intelligent, and composed attacking player who operates primarily as a left winger but is equally capable of performing as a number 10 or right winger. At 23, he has developed into an experienced and tactically mature player with a background in respected youth academies across Europe.

Having come through the youth systems of Red Star Belgrade, Sunderland, and Östers IF, and spent time with GAIS, Marinković brings a blend of technical refinement and international football education. His current performances for Vigbyholms IK highlight his ability to translate that foundation into consistent end product and leadership on the pitch.

Operating mainly from the left flank, Marinković is highly effective when cutting inside to connect play and create opportunities. He often drops deeper to receive the ball, turns in tight spaces, and initiates attacking sequences with composure and precision. His unorthodox style and calmness in possession allow him to dictate tempo – when he has the ball, the game visibly slows down in his control.

In attacking play, Marinković combines creativity with productivity. This season, he has registered 10 points (goals and assists) in 25 matches, reflecting his impact and consistency in the final third. His excellent scanning and awareness enable him to anticipate movements and make quick, intelligent decisions under pressure.

In one-on-one situations, he is particularly dangerous. He uses agility, body feints, and control to beat defenders both inside and on the outside, creating chances or finding space for a decisive finish. His strong ball-carrying ability, combined with balance and composure, makes him difficult to dispossess.

Tactically, he fits best in 4-3-3 or 4-2-3-1 systems that allow creative freedom in wide or half-space areas. His understanding of spacing, combination play, and positional interchanges makes him adaptable and valuable in possession-based and transition-oriented setups alike.

Off the pitch, Marinković is highly ambitious and professional, demonstrating a focused mindset and drive to progress. With his technical ability, attacking vision, and experience from multiple football cultures, he has the qualities to make an immediate impact at a higher level.

Scoutbridge's assessment: Miloš Marinković is ready to perform at Ettan Fotboll level and has the potential to establish himself as a key figure in Swedish football in the coming seasons
