

Scouting Report:

Zakaria Herzi

Born: 2009

Club: Örgryte IS Academy

Zakaria Herzi is an attacking player who combines courage, technique, and football intelligence in a way that makes him very difficult to stop. He stands out particularly for his bravery in offensive duels, where he consistently takes on defenders one against one. With his light movement and natural acceleration, he often breaks through lines and creates imbalance in the opposition's defense.

What makes him especially interesting is his ability to move immediately from one action to the next. After beating his man, he can quickly find a forward pass without losing tempo, which keeps the attacking flow alive and puts constant pressure on the opponent. He is also a goal threat himself, with strong finishing skills, and has the advantage of being comfortable on both feet. In several aspects, his playing style shows similarities to Harpun Ibrahim, especially in his blend of individual quality and quick decision-making.

Tactically, Herzi is well-suited both as a winger in a 4-3-3 system, on either the right or left side, and as a creative number 10 in a 4-2-3-1 formation, where he can operate behind the striker and drive the attacking play. This versatility allows him to adapt to different roles without losing his key strengths.

The main area for improvement at this stage is his physical development. With added strength and greater resilience in duels, he will become an even more complete and effective player. At Scoutbridge, we believe that with the right environment, training structure, and holistic development, Zakaria Herzi has the potential to reach Allsvenskan within the coming years.

In summary, Zakaria Herzi is a highly promising attacking talent whose courage, technical ability, and game intelligence make him a player to watch closely for the future.
