

Scouting Report:

Vicky Joseph

Born: 2006

Nationality: Rwanda/Sweden

International: Rwanda U20

Vicky Joseph is a powerful and hungry attacking player whose profile combines pace, strength, and a natural eye for goal. Capable of playing both as a striker and as a left winger, he brings versatility and directness to the final third. At international level, he already represents Rwanda U20, showcasing his potential on the bigger stage.

One of Vicky's most striking qualities is his ability to attack space with well-timed runs behind the defensive line. His pace and aggression make him a constant threat in transition, while his willingness to fight for every ball underlines his mentality as a forward. This season, he has demonstrated his efficiency in front of goal by scoring 14 goals in 14 appearances, underlining his reputation as a natural finisher who can convert chances with either foot.

Beyond his finishing, Vicky provides significant value to teams with his ability to operate as a target player. His physicality and toughness allow him to hold up the ball and connect play higher up the pitch, particularly from goal kicks or longer build-up sequences. This makes him well-suited for teams that want to bypass the first press and advance quickly into attacking zones. At the same time, his speed and strength make him equally effective for counterattacking systems that look to exploit space in behind, where he thrives in stretching defenses and creating chances out of nothing.

Vicky's mentality is another key strength: he plays with aggression, hunger, and determination, attributes that make him stand out as a forward who consistently puts defenders under pressure. His ability to create danger even from limited situations gives him the profile of a player who can make a difference at critical moments.

Areas for improvement lie in his technical refinement. While he is effective in driving forward, his passing and the speed with which he carries the ball could be developed further to make him more complete in possession-oriented systems. With focused work on these aspects, he can become more unpredictable and polished in his overall attacking play.

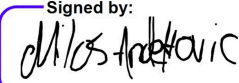

In summary, Vicky Joseph is a dangerous and determined forward with a proven goalscoring record, strong physical attributes, and the mentality of a player who can change games. With continued technical development and the right environment, we believe he will be able to
